

Prof. Frank Wilczek

MIT Center for Theoretical Physics, Cambridge, USA
Nobel Prize in Physics in 2004

„Quantum Beauty: Real And Ideal“

Does the world embody beautiful ideas? Pythagoras and Plato intuited that it should; Newton and Maxwell demonstrated how it could. But modern physics, and especially the quantum physics at its foundation, answers with a much more resounding and definitive “Yes!” I’ll bring in history and art, as well as science, to make the case.

Ort

Lise-Meitner-Hörsaal
Fakultät für Physik
Strudlhofgasse 4
1090 Wien

Zeit

25.11.2011
17:00 Uhr